Our practice in this area is growing regionally and nationally. We represent owners of a variety of buildings, including single-family residences, subdivisions, condominiums/townhomes, apartments, hotels, schools, retirement facilities, retail stores, offices and shopping centers. As plaintiff's counsel, we have secured hundreds of millions of dollars in judgments and settlements for clients. We also defend developers and general contractors from design and construction defect claims, and work with these clients to develop and implement risk management practices.
